Home Care

If you or your loved one would like to remain living at home and independent for longer, Vision Australia can assist you with services, supports and to access government funding.

Home Care Packages are government funded and subsidised long-term supports for older people who want to stay living at home. There are four levels of funding for home care services available, ranging for people with basic needs right through to high needs – up to the value of $50,000 per year.

To access Home Care you need to register with My Aged Care and be assessed as eligible. Once approved, they will match your needs to a suitable Home Care Package level. You will be placed in the National queue and notified when a package become available. Vision Australia will continue to support you while you wait.

When you are assigned a package, you will receive a referral code to give to your Home Care Package provider of choice. Your home care can commence once a plan of support is designed together with you to ensure services are meeting your needs.

Vision Australia can support you throughout this process if you would like. You can choose to manage your own care or Vision Australia can look after all of the details for you. Your local team can manage all of your services and are available when you need them.

You or your loved one can continue to enjoy life in your own home, knowing that you have the support of dedicated, skilled staff who are vision loss specialists supported by Vision Australia; an organisation with over 150 years of experience working with people who are blind or have low vision.

Mary has always been proudly self-sufficient and with the support she’s received from Vision Australia, continues to stay in the house she’s called home for over 40 years.

“I’m legally blind now, and my central vision is almost completely gone. If it wasn’t for the support from Vision Australia, I’m sure I couldn’t stay in my home.”

When a client is first referred to Vision Australia, one of our occupational therapists will visit their home, to assess how we can best support them.

Mary’s Case Worker Gail explains:

“Mary’s occupational therapist went out and made sure her home was safe. They replaced her stove with a safer toaster oven and induction cooktop, and through their skills training, Mary regained confidence to do things, like pour her own cup of tea. They also put safety rails both inside and outside the house.”

While Mary has appreciated the practical changes and training that have helped her, she’s been truly touched by the sense of genuine care she has felt from our team.

“They are so helpful and so caring. I’ve always been a fairly independent and resourceful person. It makes me realise how wonderful Vision Australia is. Not just in a practical but in an emotional sense, too.”

The emotional wellbeing of a person who is losing or has lost their vision is always a key priority for our specialists.
It’s the regular contact and sense of care from Vision Australia that helps Mary feel connected. Gail explains:

“I know Mary appreciates that when she needs us we always answer the phone.”

For more than five years now our specialist team has been able to support Mary to stay in her family home, maintain her independence, and avoid the loneliness she was feeling when her eyesight first deteriorated.

Vision Australia hasn’t just supported Mary to overcome the challenges of losing her eyesight, it’s helped her stay active and social, and has brought real joy to her life.
Vision Australia specialises in delivering direct care through specially trained and skilled staff, to support people who are blind or have low vision.
